Save time by delegating group management

Alleviate the administrative overhead of user group management. Simply select groups in Confluence and delegate ownership. Now you can get back to what matters most — scaling your Confluence instance.

Empower your team leaders

Delegate ownership of select user groups to trusted team leads (or even to other groups). Group owners can then safely and easily manage their own group membership at any time. No admin required!

Manage your own groups with ease

Not an admin? Not a problem. Just have your Confluence admin empower you to manage your own group! Then simply search for users, add your teammates, or remove them with a single click.
