About Karna

Karna, LLC provides population health services to governmental and commercial agencies in the areas of science, research, technology, communications, and evaluation.

The name "Karna" is inspired by Hindu mythology. Karna was a great warrior – an archer who never missed. Throughout his life he kept his word under all circumstances and lived by the highest standards of integrity.

As a company, Karna works to embody these same principles and strive to always being "on target." Like an archer, Karna works with our clients to develop and/or understand a vision for what needs to be accomplished, we focus on the milestones and work, ultimately achieving the desired results.

OUR VISION

Improve the population's health through transformational strategies, evidence-based approaches, and effective technologies.

Payers

Karna delivers solutions to health plans, brokers, and third party administrators.

Health plans have been engaging in Population Health Management (PHM) activities for many years — stratifying group populations by risk, identifying high-cost conditions and enlisting members for participation in disease management programs. However, now payers are collaborating with providers and integrating PHM principles and technologies in an unprecedented approach to curtailing costs and delivering value.

Strategic Consulting

We help payers and brokers navigate rapidly changing employer and compliance environments. We provide senior health professionals that can inform evidence-based programs and advise on specific applications of actuarial data to pragmatic strategies. By applying what is already proven to novel circumstances and working with payers and brokers, we arrive at program designs that innovate and provide greater customer engagement. We provide a repeatable strategic framework from which to launch and sustain multiple platforms.
