

6
THE PHASE WHEN THERE'S LESS DRAMA,
MORE STRESS, AND YOUR VERY BUSY TEENAGER ANSWERS ALL YOUR QUESTIONS WITH, "JUST TRUST ME."

If your teenager's social calendar is busier than your own, you might be in one of the best phases of your child's life.

Parenting Your Eleventh Grader is a concise and interactive guide that simplifies what you need to know about juniors in general and gives you a place to discover more about your eleventh grader—so you can make the most of this phase. Discover . . .

what's changing about your kid over the next 52 weeks, the 6 things your kid needs most,
and 4 conversations to have in this phase.

The Phase Project, including this guide in your hand, is a synthesis of personal experience, academic research, and gatherings of leaders and educational experts from across the child development spectrum. Designed in partnership with Parent Cue, this guide is one volume in an 18-part series to help you parent your child through every year.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Kristen Ivy is executive director of the Phase Project. Kristen blends a background in child development with a Master of Divinity and over 15 years of leading children and students. She and her husband, Matt, have three children in the preschool and elementary phases. Reggie Joiner is founder and CEO of Orange, an organization designed to redefine ministry approaches for churches and family environments. For nearly 40 years, he's mentored teachers and leaders who influence the next generation. Reggie and his wife, Debbie, have raised four kids into adulthood.
