Apple Pie Machine And Equipment

Apple Pie Machinery

To make apple pies in the traditional way, dough and fillings were made separately by hand, often it requires much longer preparation time and yet hard to maintain consistent quality. Therefore ANKO has developed HLT-700 Series models, which can automatically produce customized apple pies with increase efficiency and consistency.

About Apple Pie

Apple pies are pies made with apples or apple fillings. It originated in Europe, and various recipes could be found according to different traditions and preferences. It was not until the colonial period of the United States, apples were brought from the old world to the new, and later the birth of apple pies.

Nowadays, apple pies can be found in various forms and flavors, depending on the recipes used, and the way to enjoy these pies can also be very creative. However, in the USA, apple pies not only have become part of the culture and national pride, the popularity had also spread out from household and professional kitchens to supermarket shelves and fast food chains.
