Resources

ABOUT US >

ReSchool provides free, open-source resources that we have found helpful when we are working with families, educators and communities. They are all available for you to use and adapt to your context.

Resources for Families and Educators

Families are making so many decisions when it comes to their kids' learning. We hope these resources help make the process easier to connect kids to learning that best fits them.

learning opportunities in the Denver Metro area in one place.

Surfaces the family and learners' values and priorities about learning to support them in choosing a school that is the best fit for them.

Resources for Systems Change in Education

These are resources we've found helpful in shifting mindsets to enable implementation of a modern, expanded, asset-based education ecosystem.
