Strong partnerships

We believe the fastest way to getting this life-saving technology implemented is working with strong partnerships including OEMs and mobility service providers.

Our partnership with Transdev takes shared mobility to the next level. We are providing our self-driving software and integration expertise to Transdev, one of the world's largest mobility providers in a shared effort to deploy fully autonomous shuttles in France. This solution will expand current routes and give people a more efficient way to get where they are going.
