We have the glimpse monitor and I'm not able to go more than 30 feet away from the camera with the handheld. It starts to beep and the screen shows a 'no camera' image. It's fully charged. Am I doing something wrong or is the handheld defective?

Do you need internet for glimpse.

Answer this Question

Summer Infant · a month ago

Thank you for your question. No, you do not need internet. The monitor and camera works on a digital frequency.

We have two of the sets of this glimpse monitor and handheld. I can sync two cameras to one monitor, but what I really want to do is synch one camera to the two handhelds (one for the bedroom and another for the living room). Is this possible?

We have a glimpse monitor and really like it. We have had it for just about five months now and the down button doesn't work anymore. We have no control over lowering the sound or brightness. Any suggestions to help would be greatly appreciated.

We also have experienced this same problem as of today. We have had the monitor for less than a year. Will be calling in after the holiday weekend for support.

I have a leftover camera from my old summer kit, but the handheld part is gone. Can I connect the old camera to this new system? Thanks!

Thank you for your question. No, all our cameras and monitors are model specific and are not interchangeable. It would need to be the same model.

Simple features, easy to use

This is my second monitor set from SI. My first is 5 years old and served us well. Glimpse is easy to install and operate. Plug in while sleeping. The static sound is much softer than my old one which is good. I thought I would miss panorama feature as my old one could turn from the handheld, but it is fine without it. I have one camera w baby and one with 4 year old. Cameras did need to be mounted pretty high up, about 6-8 feet. There isn't an off button on cameras which is wierd, so they are always on. I couldn't reach them to turn on and off anyway. Flexible camera head is easy to position. Highly recommend.

Volume buttons have fail - TWICE

After less than 6 months of use on my first monitor the down volume button failed and was stuck at the highest volume. I called customer service and they immediately sent me a replacement. After about 2 weeks of use the same failure happened and the down volume button no longer works. I am highly disappointed in this monitor and will be buying a different one. Don't waste your money on it.

I wanted a monitor that wasn't too expensive and would last me another year or so. My previous one fried after several years of use. Summer Infant customer service was very helpful

Best buy for the money

This thing is awesome! Great battery life and picks up literally every sound. It picks up my front door opening...a truck driving by....it's wonderful. Puts me at complete peace of mind. Video could be a bit clearer but you can see well enough to make sure little one is ok. I've had it for a couple of months so not sure about its longevity but overall great product

Disappointed

We got this when our original monitor's on/off switch no longer worked and the batteries needed changing and we were never able to turn it on again. We did not realize when we got this one as a replacement that there was no ability to move the camera so we now have to try and set it up and hope that our baby doesn't move out of its relatively narrow view.

Screen is too small, cameras don't move and fall over easily when you have them sitting flat. Night vision isn't great
