

SECURITY – IT'S IN OUR DNA

With over three decades of heritage in the Security Products Sector, Vanderbilt are continuously adapting to the changing face of security. Our inherent qualities of commitment, innovation and vigilance have resulted in our leading the market in Intrusion Detection, Video Surveillance and Access Control.

Our comprehensive security pedigree brings unprecedented levels of protection – and a growing family of security products that harness emerging technology to foresee and satisfy your current and future security needs.

It allows us to deliver solutions like Aliro, the IP Access Control entry system designed to be simple yet highly secure, new intelligent card readers, more effective detectors and increasingly capable CCTV cameras and recorders.

An entirely new generation of security products – all sharing those same, unmistakable, unrivaled traits that make Vanderbilt so unique.

Vanderbilt – the proven formula for peace-of-mind
