About Us

Our Service Nation

Services are the backbone of the nation's economy, with service sector job growth far outpacing manufacturing and retail industries. From legal and accounting services, to home and construction, education and childcare, and health and medical – services support our daily lives.

Behind the Service

Behind great service providers are great solutions – business management, marketing, and customer retention platforms – that fuel business growth and improve day-to-day workflow.

EverCommerce is providing access to these solutions under one umbrella, with the mission to support the success of millions of business owners.

Speed

No big corporate bureaucracy here. With a background in building successful software startups, we help fuel growth while working with a passion, and staying quick-paced and nimble.

Flexibility

Every business is different. From target market, to customer persona, to geo-location, to business operations, we complement growth and efficiency for each business's unique model.

Collaboration

Designed to be highly collaborative and open, the EverCommerce community leverages the deep market knowledge of its member companies with the business growth expertise of our collective team.

Better Together

EverCommerce is bringing together best-of-breed commerce solutions in the service sector, forming one service commerce platform that improves go-to-market strategy for technology companies and simplifies the software-buying process for business owners.

Our team has extensive expertise in business operations, management, legal, finance, accounting, technology human resources, marketing and sales that, via the EverCommerce platform, we provide as a service to drive continued growth and success for growing service commerce companies. Our ecosystem enables companies to thrive in an environment of shared knowledge and resources with significant cost savings.

In addition, service business owners get an unparalleled environment to find best-fit solutions that improve how they market services, manage business, and retain customers. Collectively, all tides rise. Technology companies and the businesses that buy from them can penetrate markets, reach new targets, build efficiency and scale, create revenue predictability, and reach new heights.

"I am thrilled. With great people and resources to help us grow, EverCommerce is a fantastic platform for our employees' and customers' continued success."
