Business / Commercial

We deliver safe, reliable electricity so you have the power to maintain productivity, keeping the backbone of our economy strong. Known as the "poles and wires" infrastructure company, we manage our utility business as you likely do – by investing in the latest technology, and by putting our employees and customers first.

While energy use and its impact on overall operating costs varies from industry to industry, one common element is the desire to control costs wherever possible. That's why we help you manage your energy needs and guide you in making important decisions about energy use that can help your bottom line, reduce carbon footprints and help you comply with company-wide mandates for environmental performance.

Our state's deregulated electricity market gives you the power to choose from competitive retail electric providers. To help you manage costs, we offer several incentive-based energy efficiency programs that are approved by the Public Utility Commission of Texas as well as other tools and resources that are easily accessible on this site.

It's our business to know the more than 400 cities and towns we serve, and if you're considering relocating or expanding, our economic development experts are here to help you Think Big. Think Texas.
