Our Goal

Simple as it sounds, but we aim to help students study better. How? We've created the resource where students can get inspired for efficient and independent research which leads to flawless and creative writing. Here you can find useful tips and illustrative paper samples that will fuel your desire to craft a winning piece or simply make you a better learner.

How it all started

Of course, It all started when we were students ourselves. Only after we have gone through all college hardships such as hectic schedule, multitasking, and big pressure, we came up with an idea to make it all a lot easier for other students. So with this noble mission, we have launched the online service and made it a perfect place to learn, share ideas and communicate. Currently, StudentShare has more than 1,000,000 essays samples in all subject areas and on all topics from common or even classic to rare and tough ones. And we don't stop there. We also have our blog to give you a double dose of inspiration and useful information.
