

How does the coverage available through Huckleberry compare to other options? -

Workers' comp limits are decided by the state, not by businesses or insurers. So there are really no decisions to make and every workers' comp provider is selling basically the same thing. When you purchase workers' comp, you automatically get the coverage mandated by your state. \(Read more about that here.\)

As Huckleberry, we differentiate by offering the only fully digital policy on the market. That means you can spend less time filling out paper forms and more time building your business.
