

Anything you need,
You got it

Why design?

Bringing it all to life

At RX Music, our ultimate business is to instill peace of mind in clients who count on us to elevate their business. We do everything to ensure your bespoke media program is delivered and played uninterrupted, day in day out, at your business locations anywhere in the world. Be it one or five hundred.

An essential element for this peace of mind is the right A/V system: custom designed, engineered and integrated to fit your budgetary, operational, spatial and aesthetic needs.

From A to V

Custom design

Our professional engineers will design a suitable and modular system to handle your unique business requirements and future growth. This includes acoustic modelling and CAD to ensure optimal sound coverage, amplification and fidelity to deliver your custom media across your distinctive physical space.

From A to V

Project management

A dedicated project manager will work closely with you throughout the installation process to ensure a smooth and efficient experience.

From A to V

Installation & training

In addition to professional installation by qualified technicians, you will be provided with comprehensive training on your equipment to ensure you get the most out of your investment.

From A to V

Deep experience

Our skilled, dependable engineers and technicians have the necessary know-how to handle the most complex system integration.

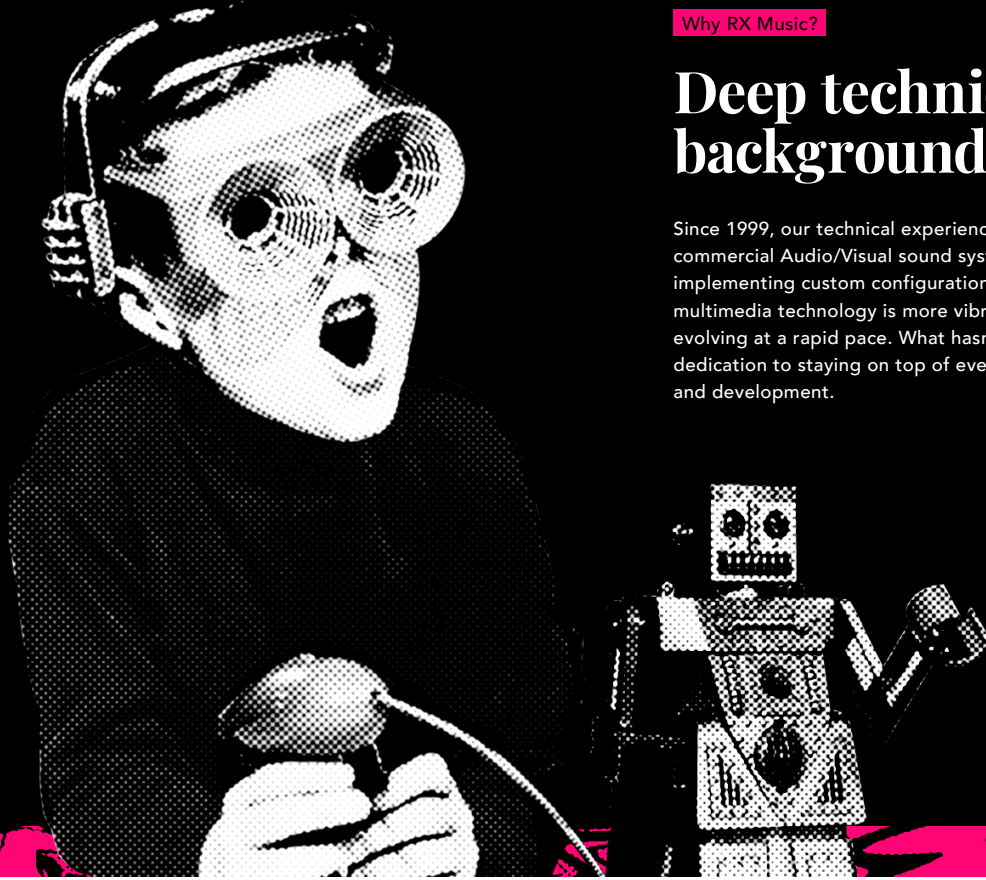

Why RX Music?

Deep technical background

Since 1999, our technical experience has been rooted in designing commercial Audio/Visual sound systems, integrating hardware and implementing custom configuration. Many years later, the world of multimedia technology is more vibrant than ever, with the landscape evolving at a rapid pace. What hasn't changed is our continuous dedication to staying on top of everything A/V through research and development.
