WHAT IS CLOUD COMPUTING?

Access Everything, Anytime.

Cloud hosting takes all the computer hardware and software sitting in your office and moves the data to the "cloud", allowing it to be accessed with an internet connection. With your data in the cloud, you don't have to be in any one physical location to use it or be on any one physical device.

The advantage to cloud hosting is that it is managed for you. You no longer have to worry about keeping your software up to date, viruses that may affect your computer, or keeping multiple backups of your data. Everything lives in a secure data center. Additionally, you get high-speed service without taking on the cost of purchasing or maintaining servers, expensive networking equipment, and backup systems.

The best part about cloud hosting? You can work on your files from anywhere you have an internet connection. No matter what device you use to access the system, you stay productive wherever you are.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

⌃ What is a virtual desktop?

A virtual desktop is a cloud-based computer. It lives on a server in our data center. When you log in it's like getting a brand-new computer, which looks exactly like a windows-based computer with all your applications. Virtual desktops are very powerful, versatile and robust.
