

safe, and effective—and their connections to and ability to leverage quaiame physicians and dispensaries are key to successful medical outcomes.

The Platform

The CannaLnx platform supports patient engagement beginning at finding a qualified physician knowledgeable in specialized medical-cannabis fields, and dispensaries capable of providing quality cannabis pharma products. CannaLnx leverages its AI platform to identify patients qualified for cannabis treatment, providing patients and doctors with information to finely “tune” the medical-cannabis usage path and identify potential problems before they arise. The platform engages patients, families, and their prescribing physicians in the collective goal of identifying and sourcing the most effective combination of medical-cannabis pharma resources.

The CannaLnx cloud-based SaaS platform standardizes, informs, streamlines and simplifies medical-cannabis-related processes, information management/access, and transactions. It’s a central repository and connector for all the information industry participants—especially patients—need. It’s an easy-to-use system that informs medical-cannabis patient certification and dispensary- and grower-related processes—an information and transaction bridge between physician, patients, dispensaries, growers, processors, test labs.

Taking an end-to-end approach to the medical-cannabis industry, CannaLnx is a HIPAA-compliant registry/tracking tool for use by medical-cannabis recommending/certifying medical professionals, dispensaries, patients, growers, processors, and test labs. It also streamlines state-mandated transaction reporting requirements and is a reliable data hub for the industry, regulators, and researchers. CannaLnx conveniently “links” patients to all industry participants.

Communication

CannaLnx is a comprehensive communication, transaction-processing, and reporting platform for all medical-cannabis program participants. Our focus is enabling and securing communication among all program participants.

CannaLnx facilitates and acts as a central archive of the information doctors and patients need to wisely issue the qualified physician’s recommendation/certification and navigate medical-cannabis selection and fulfillment processes. It informs patient certification issuance, and once a medical-cannabis patient has registered with his/her state, the CannaLnx platform supports fulfillment of recommended medical-cannabis products, and aids coordination of patient medical-record data for certifying doctors through integration with state patient registries and dispensary point-of-sale (POS) systems.

By enhancing recommendation and fulfillment processes—and access to information essential to those processes—CannaLnx expects to assist ten million new patients into and through the medical-cannabis industry by 2020.
