Fintech Worldwide, a global fintech and events network that will focus on fintech, blockchain, and digital assets, announced on November 12 that it is partnering with New York-based Molinari Media to launch TheIMPACT Television and Social Media Network.

TheIMPACT will be globally accessible and will cover developments related to how digital technologies and digital assets are making a positive social impact by improving programs towards the Sustainable Development Goals. TheIMPACT is a new project that aims to cater to the high growth and demands of young investors, in order to ensure that they're contributing to those related to Environment, Social and Governance (ESG).

Fintech Worldwide CEO Dr. Jane Thomason stated:

"For the first time in human history we have the technology to connect with the majority of people on the planet and address the extraordinary issues we address: human, social and environmental issues. We need to act those stories."

TheIMPACT will be covering stories that will be assigned to a global network of news correspondents. The program will broadcast 24 hours a day, and will offer investors with ESG various responsible investments.

View Molinari, founder of TheIMPACT and digital asset report, noted that the partnership aims to bring greater reach and visibility to the most relevant or pressing issues across the globe.

Notes included:

"These are issues that Jane and Fintech Worldwide have been talking about for years. We are excited to join the cause to improve the welfare of nations through our media platform and supporting the United Nations' sustainable development goals."

TheIMPACT is scheduled to begin broadcasting from the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE). Investor Blog Analysts will be one of the first writers and will be joined by TheIMPACT on-line and off-line news team.

Fintech Worldwide is one of the world's largest networks for developers (10000+) in fintech, blockchain technology, and digital asset.

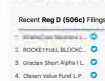

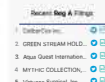

Molinari Media, LLC broadcast from the NYSE and provides analysis of blockchain, fintech developments, digital assets, and regulations.
