ASBA's Winter Meeting may be one of the best kept secrets in sports construction. Exotic locations, one-on-one networking among owners and senior executives, and a condensed three-day schedule that builds in enough time to work hard with association peers in the mornings on focused association projects; and then "real world" conversations with one another in a relaxed resort setting the rest of the day. This is one of those professional opportunities when sampling turns you into an industry veteran. If you come to one of ASBA's Winter Meetings, you won't want to miss another one!
