Spooling Services

At Sonic Spooling, we take pride in our service, equipment, and field technicians. All our field technicians are experienced and more than qualified to perform their job duties to meet or exceed the expectation set by the industry. Our industry leading technology designed equipment has the capability to perform tasks that would normally require more than one spooling unit. Therefore, reducing cost to our customers, creating a less congested, and safer well site. With new equipment and well qualified field technicians, we strive to provide a cost effective, more reliable, and safer alternative to the oil and gas industry.
