Common Questions

What Is Collagen?

Collagen is the most abundant protein in the humanbody. It gives structure to our:

- Teeth, Bones & Muscles
- Digestive Lining

Our bodies are 30% protein and of, this 30-40% is made up of collagen. Collagen is often referred to as the “glue” that holds us together.

At the age of 25 our body’s natural ability to produce collagen starts to gradually decline. Because of this, it is essential to provide our body with the building blocks it needs to produce collagen. These “building blocks” are the amino acids found in Multi Collagen Protein.

Major Health Benefits of Collagen

Anti-Aging / Healthy Skin

- Stronger, healthier skin
- Skin elasticity - helps tighten loose/saggy skin
- Can help reduce cellulite

Promotes Joint Health

- Rich in amino acids (building blocks of joint cartilage)
- Makes up over 75% of joint tissue
- May relieve joint pain & arthritis
- Can relieve knee and back pain

Healthier Hair & Nails

- Reduces broken/brittle nails & increases healthy growth
- Strengthens weak hair & hair grows in more vibrant

Healthier Gut & Lining

- Collagen makes up part of the gut lining.
- Supporting the gut lining enhances overall digestive health
- Assists with leaky gut & IBS

May Help Preserve / Promote Bone Health

- Most people think “calcium” when they think of healthy bones. Calcium works much better in your body and is more effective when paired with collagen
- Collagen makes up 90% of our bone mass

Where Does Collagen Come From?

Our ancestors would consume broths made from the bones of these animals on almost a daily basis. Unfortunately times have changed. In our fast paced society it's rare that people take the time to make a proper broth/stew/soup.

It is also important to understand that meat such as steak, chicken breast, fish fillets, etc. DO NOT contain collagen. While these are healthy to eat, they don't contain collagen. It is essential for anyone over the age of 25 to be consuming collagen on a daily basis.

Collagen Facts:

- Collagen is the most abundant protein in the body
- Collagen helps hold together nearly every part of the body like a "glue"
- Production of collagen drops gradually after the age of 25
- Almost no one gets collagen in their diet and will benefit from supplementation
- It is very easy to consume & can be mixed with beverages, soups/broths, smoothies, baked goods & more.

What Happens if You Don't Consume Enough Collagen?

A lack of collagen might cause symptoms/issues such as:

- Premature wrinkles & saggy/droopy skin
- Brittle hair & nails
- Fragile tendons, joints & pain in the joints (knees/elbows)
