perfxwireservices PerfX is excited to roll out our new simplified pricing structure. For the past couple of years, our team has been developing and testing our "Plug and Play" gun system, XConnect. We own XConnect and we own our Supply Chain. This allows PerfX to provide a proven "Plug and Play" gun system at a price that rivals the cheapest conventional systems on the market. This new pricing structure highlights our competitive advantage well and increases flexibility for our customers. We encourage our customers to compare our hardware cost, not only against our competition but against other 3rd party systems as well. While we are happy to shoot any gun system available on the market and will continue to do so, having our own modular system and internal supply chain allows our clients to streamline the procurement process and remove the cost of a middleman.
