

Nasdaq ESG Footprint

Measure your portfolio's ESG impact

Nasdaq has created an easy-to-implement interface measuring the global sustainability effect of a portfolio and individual securities. Through an intuitive dashboard, investors and managers have access to the real-life effects of each investment, along with alternatives that may better suit an individual's sustainability goals.

The first dashboard providing portfolio analysis comparisons against individual and global sustainability benchmarks

- Provides reporting plus actionable insights to drive ongoing strategies
- Uses a combination of Nasdaq proprietary raw ESG and machine-learning data covering 13k shares from 60 different global data sources
- Encourages participation by millennial investors – a demographic eager to embrace sustainability measures as a whole
- Born from a partnership between an innovative fintech firm and a trusted data provider
- Available via API, as well as PDF & CSV reports
