Transform the way work gets done

Stop Meeting Like This is a professional services firm that partners with forward-looking companies to transform how work gets done. Through collaboration practices that are intelligent, energizing, and right-sized, companies unleash diverse perspectives and realize the fullest expression of potential. From this foundation, results are achieved and exceptional experiences are made possible.

We partner with clients around the globe from our home base in Chicago and the San Francisco Bay Area.

“Intelligent collaboration is the most important performance driver in modern organizations.”
