USB drive security helps protect your home networks

Protect your Windows computers and everyone who uses them from viruses and other malware that are commonly transmitted by USB drives. DriveSecurity uses the award-winning ESET NOD32® antivirus engine to detect and eliminate viruses, spyware, Trojans, worms, rootkits, adware and other Internet threats before they can be transmitted onto your portable drives.

This means that any files you place on your USB drive are malware-free and safe to share with others. It's easy, with no need to install anything on a host computer – DriveSecurity operates from the USB drive itself for speed and convenience.
