It's a TRAP! subscribe

 California

Homage is paid once again to the iconic Star Wars "It's a TRAP!" scene, this time in the service of casting a harsh spotlight on agreement provisions of any kind out there in the field (anonymous queries welcome), that are surprising, banal, moronic, unfair to an unusual degree, just plain mean, or otherwise outrageous or over-the-top.

Checklists subscribe

 California

Described as the "fourth Apollo crewmember" and credited with saving thousands of lives by improving common medical procedures like IV insertion, a checklist aims to solve one of the two operational factors humans have control over in tackling any decision, problem or task: ignorance (lack of information), and ineptitude (failure to apply known information correctly or consistently). A simple checklist is a powerful tool, and ideally
