National Board of Perioperative Care

Perioperative care is an evolving field that addresses the vulnerabilities of increasing age and complexity of patients and the increase in the number of surgical procedures being performed in United States. There is a critical need to standardize the evidence-based care of surgical patients at risk to ensure optimal outcomes.

The National Board of Perioperative Care comprises a group of nonphysician healthcare professionals who are considered experts in their respective areas of Perioperative Care. The aim of the Board is to formulate a perioperative care syllabus for use in the training of nonphysician healthcare professionals in perioperative care in the United States.
