How do you power your programs so it all adds up?

As customers and partners struggle with evolving business needs in today's digitized world, a more holistic approach is required to ensure the effective management of your programs. The Vistex Go-to-Market Suite® (GTMS) revolutionizes program management by delivering precise, actionable insight. How? By making it all add up with unprecedented visibility into program performance, and deeper insights to better enable fact-based decisions, businesses are empowered to drive revenue, control cost, minimize leakage and streamline processes. With GTMS, your business will shift into a higher gear of profitability.

What your company buys and sells; whom you buy and sell to; how you price what you buy and sell; how you drive revenue and control spend; how you drive performance and behavior – these decisions impact participants all along the value chain. Master data, price management, rights & royalties, trade & channel, vendor funding, and performance incentives programs involve multiple stakeholders, and without a complete 360° view of these programs, it's nearly impossible to know if they're driving your company forward or leaving you behind.

Vistex supports the entire breadth and depth of your programs, giving you access to insightful information to help you drive revenue and improve margins. Utilizing an integrated approach on a single platform, Go-to-Market Suite® (GTMS) reduces the inherent complexity of programs. GTMS enables you to stay ahead of rapidly changing business needs, making your programs work for you by improving program performance itself.

GTMS delivers deep, actionable insights by giving you a crystal clear understanding of the effectiveness of all your programs. Your ability to model, create, execute and analyze each program will enable you to influence customer, employee and partner behavior. Only the Vistex Go-to-Market Suite® offers a return on investment with significant impact on the company topline, and more importantly, bottomline.

Making it All Add Up: Stronger. Smarter. Together.

Vistex provides an end-to-end application that offers total insights into the full spectrum of your programs. After all, the difference between profit and loss is often found in the space between what you bill and what you actually realize. Go-to-Market Suite® leverages your enterprise platform to help you design, manage, and administer your programs. It provides a crucial competitive edge by providing the right insights into the true profit potential of all your programs.

Value Driven ... Value Creation

Manufacturers, distributors, retailers and trading partners add or extract various forms of value along the supply chain. Vistex solutions provide unmatched insight into this critical tangle of transactions, ensuring that your programs result in incremental volume and profitable growth. With compelling interactive visualizations, individualized dashboards, and advanced real-time analytical tools, GTMS offers a holistic approach to managing programs, giving your business all the power of an enterprise solution as well as a choice between cloud-based or on-premise environments.

As a modular-based application, GTMS's modules can be deployed together to provide end-to-end operations management, or separately to solve specific program, business or industry challenges – allowing you to see how it all adds up and leverage maximum benefit from your programs.
