LOVE IN MOTION

LOVEEVOLVE®

verb - to love unconditionally and keep growing

"I began this series of 'love' paintings as a mindless exercise to overcome a paralyzing creative block that coincided with a major emotional trauma in my life. Each piece is created to initiate healthy conversations about LOVE." xo/sunny

SUNNY STACK GOODE

Sunny is a full time contemporary artist and master colorist. In her own words, "Color is how I communicate. Even in my earliest memories, color was the primary voice – it is no wonder I became an artist and love to paint. I believe a painting should make you feel something. I often look back at a series I've done and realize that I can "see" very clearly what was going on in my life at that time, in the lines and shapes, but primarily with the colors I used."

When the protests began in the Spring of 2020, my friend asked me to paint a LOVEEVOLVE mural on the side of her home on the corner of Grove Avenue and Strawberry Street in Richmond, Virginia. With the help of great friends, Darryl, Thomas, & Annie Ward, we painted this mural below on June 12th, 2020 which happens to be National Loving Day. How serendipitous is that?

The blue represents trust and the white represents hope and peace. The letters falling into the foundation of trust and hope and peace... evolving into love. We need to evolve as a country through love, trust, hope and peace for us all.

100% organic cotton muslin swaddles are produced using Fair Trade Fabrics, in an ethically principled factory. The inks are Azo free, GOTS (global organic textile standard) and Oeko-Tex certified, completely free from harmful chemicals and safe for human use, and there is zero waste.

LOVEVOLVE believes the family is the root of change in the world. When love and healthy relationship guidance is available for all families from the start, the world will be a better, more unified place for everyone. Through their design, LOVEVOLVE swaddles serve as a visual reminder to love, a message that can be an incredibly powerful reminder when we, especially new parents, are in our weakest, most tired moments. Additionally, each swaddle comes with resources on the benefits of swaddling newborns, as well as informational links on healthy relationships.

Now more than ever, the world needs hope, peace, comfort and love.
Love heals.
