A customized approach to managed services

What makes our Managed Solutions different from most managed services providers is that our experienced consultants can create a strategy, then draw on our unique flexible talent pool to implement that strategy for you. We can vary the combination of each element of support based on your particular needs and budget. Because you don't have to turn to multiple vendors to plan, execute and measure the success of your initiative, our custom-fit solution often results in an easier process and lower project costs.

Success Stories

Technology

Leadership training company develops a next-generation e-learning platform

A global consulting and leadership training specialist asked us to assess the state of its new learning management platform in development. The platform needed both a strong coding methodology and the required project management governance framework. We assembled a highly skilled technical team to develop the MVP for release and establish a methodology for software development for future development and new features.
