GOURMET GARDEN

There’s nothing better than sowing seeds, tending to the plants, and then harvesting the bounty! Whether you have a big backyard garden, a community garden plot, or a few containers on your patio or kitchen counter, this kit will teach you how to successfully grow food at home. This DIY kit contains 5 purpose-picked varieties of seeds, a foolproof garden plan from our edible garden experts (seriously, our founder used to co-own Seattle Farm School), our favorite shears, engraved garden markers, and our best tool for gardening... a wooden ruler! In the accompanying video, we will walk you through everything you need to know, including:

- The secrets to garden success, every time (Hint: don’t forget to get dirty!)
- Answers to the oft-asked question of when and where to plant
- How to optimize seed spacing for growing in an urban or suburban environment
- The difference between direct sowing (planting directly in the ground) versus transplanting
- Plant care, thinning, and harvesting

The best part? Our expert education will help you take your knowledge beyond the box with delicious and unique recipes from our culinary team featuring these 5 crops. The only thing better than growing your own produce is making delicious food with the fruits (or veggies) of your labor!
