

Fully integrate in less than five days

To streamline and facilitate integrations, we've custom built an integration platform called QuickConnect™. Our proprietary platform can connect your applications and data so that you are fully integrated in less than five days, without any technical expertise or outsourced assistance.*

There's no need to find an outside integration service to connect LaborChart with your existing systems. We have the entire integration process packaged up in one lightning fast program.

- Integrate in as little as five days
- Minimal IT team effort
- Frequent data updates
- Control rules, logic and data
- Easy decision-making

*This key integration timeline refers to new business data. Integration timeline is contingent on client availability, client requirements, quality of information provided and holiday schedules.
