Nationwide and Regional Networks

How can ReThink Health collaborate with networks in ways that help stewards design and execute transformative change?

Past Work You Can Use Today

Dynamics Model

Thousands of stewards have used our "health system in a computer" to test different combinations of investments and interventions, informing their real-life strategies.

Community Activation for System Stewardship

Hundreds of stewards across the nation worked with us to learn the leadership skills necessary to bring together a broad swath of community stakeholders for the purpose of transforming the system that produces health, well-being, and care in their regions.

Financing Workbook

Stewards use this tool to get a jump start on moving away from dependence on grants toward long-term, sustainable financing.

Resident Engagement

Stewards use our tools to accurately assess their resident engagement efforts, get on the same page about their goals,

Resident Engagement

Tax Credits for Funding Population Health

With the National Academy of Medicine, we published a widely-read paper and designed a national meeting exploring how stewards might use tax credits as a means to fund population health efforts.

Ventures

Stewards in six regions across the country explored and adopted practices that accelerate progress toward regional health and well-being.
