Our Office

Check out our state of the art NYC office.

As we prepare for the return to work post-COVID-19 we are very grateful that we have a large amount of office space in order to social distance effectively.

If you are preparing to bring your employees back to the workplace, read these best practice guidelines from our recent webinar: <https://pgcgroup.com/blog/prepare-you...>

The Future of Precision

More so than ever, technology is increasing in importance and shaping the future for companies. Precision has revolutionized how we operate as a business, as a team, and the experience our clients and workers receive.

As we are building Precision ourselves, we are able to continue to customize processes based on external and internal feedback. The future is bright, we will continue adding more value to our internal workflows which in-turn will improve the worker and client experience.
