For the first time, Republic Records tops all three of Billboard's leading year-end label rankings. The company is No. 1 on the 2021 year-end Top Labels chart, while also placing atop both the Billboard 200 Labels and Billboard Hot 100 Labels charts.

Republic Records launched in 1995 and has previously been the year-end Top Label in 2019, 2018, 2016 and 2015. Republic is the top Hot 100 Label for the seventh time in the last eight years, excluding 2020. It first reigned as top Hot 100 Label in 2012. This is the first year Republic is the year-end Top Billboard 200 Label.

Billboard's year-end music Top Labels chart represents aggregated metrics for labels' performance on the weekly Billboard 200 albums chart and the Billboard Hot 100 songs chart combined during the 2021 charts tracking year: Nov. 21, 2020, through Nov. 13, 2021-dated charts. Any activity registered before or after an album or song's chart run isn't considered in this ranking. The individual Billboard Hot 100 Labels and Billboard 200 Labels
