Accessible Solutions Brokerage (ASB) is a non-profit organization providing home modification needs assessment, design and project management services to organizations that need to provide enhanced accessibility in the homes of their clientele. This can include organizations such as insurance companies, government agencies and trust administrators. We are a division of United Disabilities Services Foundation, which has been improving the independence and wellbeing of individuals with disabilities across Pennsylvania for over 50 years.

We let you do what you do best and we'll take care of the rest!

Our specially-trained professionals allow funding source customers to focus on doing what they do best, without becoming experts in construction in order to ensure a client's health and safety or meet their fiduciary duty when they receive a home modification request.

ASB uses a cross-disciplinary approach involving disability and social services professionals and construction industry experts to evaluate each client's needs in the home environment. We provide a detailed report outlining the client's functional needs, the most cost-effective solutions and any structural concerns related to the property. We also offer customized design formularies to create a simple and intuitive internal review process for organizations to utilize upon receiving the report.

For projects approved by a funding source to move forward, ASB maintains a network of construction providers to conduct a competitive bidding process when one is either needed to meet regulatory requirements or preferred to ensure cost competitiveness. We also offer the convenience of the UDS Foundation's internal construction service for situations when expediency is crucial, such as when renovations are needed to facilitate timely facility rehab, or hospital discharges.

All of ASB's staff and network providers undergo thorough background checks, including Child Abuse Clearances, State Police Background Checks and FBI Fingerprinting, prior to entering a client's home. Our project management team acts as a single point of contact for all parties when coordinating a client's project with the construction provider. Our team then performs a thorough quality inspection upon project completion prior to rendering payment to the provider.

Tailored solutions and a la carte services are available. Please contact us to discuss your organization's needs!
