

Electronic Contracting's IMPERIUM Jail Control System is custom designed to meet the needs of your facility. The display itself represents the floor plan of your facility. Function buttons and status indicators that populate the floor plan are based on the requirements you have at your facility. Functions can range from the locking and unlocking of doors, intercom, paging, audio monitoring, control of lighting in cell areas, control of water in cell areas, and control of telephone and power in cell areas.

Inmates' names can be displayed on the graphic display next to the cell they occupy. Additional information such as work locations and restrictions can also be displayed simply by touching a button.

Our system can also be integrated with video surveillance to automatically display specified cameras when intercom buttons are touched on the graphic display.
