WHAT IS CTIP?

50,000
trained VRTA professionals in North America

3,000+
training sessions completed since 1999

500+
communities using VRTA today

CTIP provides communities in North America a system that strives to anticipate the threat of violence by individuals against others or themselves, and to reduce the impact of trauma. CTIP is solely focused on preventing violence and trauma in North America using training, tools and technology.

By using precise methodologies, processes, and human-assisted technology CTIP puts multidisciplinary professionals and community leaders in control, aligning resources so that proactive actions can be taken. By bringing together police, educational leaders, social workers, mental health experts, and others, worrisome behaviors in schools, workplaces, or organizations can be identified and resolved. In the unfortunate situations where violence has occurred, CTIP offers a comprehensive adaptive trauma response system that quickly restores stability and helps identify systemic interventions to restore or maintain public trust.

Canadian VTRA Trained Professionals: Implications from Unrest in America

As the predictable escalation in Washington D.C. is currently playing out, we want to remind VTRA-trained professionals and teams that this American experience that we are observing is also an international experience, to which we are also subject.

COVID-19: Moving Forward with a Caring Approach

NOTE: THIS IS THE FIRST OF A SERIES OF NACTATR™ COMMUNICATIONS THAT WILL BE RELEASED AS CIRCUMSTANCE WARRANTS. AS INDICATED IN THE WORK OF VTRA™, “THE BETTER THE DATA, THE BETTER THE ASSESSMENT AND THE BETTER THE ASSESSMENT, THE BETTER THE INTERVENTION”. AS PROFESSIONALS FROM MULTIPLE DISCIPLINES ACROSS THE COUNTRY, AND BEYOND, ARE SHARING OUR EXPERTISE, WE ARE ALSO LEARNING THAT THE CURRENT COVID-19 CRISIS HAS SOME UNIQUENESS SPECIFIC TO OUR GENERATION ESPECIALLY AROUND MORE DISPERSE TRANSMISSION DUE TO MODERN TRAVEL AND EXPONENTIALLY HIGHER ANXIETY DUE TO MEDIA AND SOCIAL MEDIA COVERAGE.
