3. FIELDS: 'FEE' ON DELIVERIES A GUT PUNCH TO COLORADO...

President of the Advance Colorado Institute, Michael Fields, has an op-ed In Colorado Politics this morning torching Colorado Democrats' new 'fee' on deliveries to Coloradans:

"Amazon recently announced this year's Prime Day results, a 2-day sales event which ended last week; it was its "biggest" ever, with more than 300 million items purchased worldwide. Normally, Prime Day would be a great chance to score some deals, but this year there was a cloud hanging over this online holiday in Colorado — a 27-cent state fee on all retail deliveries.

If soaring 9.1% inflation and gas prices just under $5 wasn't enough to make you upset, since the beginning of July every time you pick up your phone to order any retail delivery, you're being hit with this new "fee." And yep, that fee-free delivery that was included as part of your Amazon Prime membership isn't fee-free any longer, unfortunately."
