Leave it to Arc'teryx to always push themselves to create cutting-edge improvements on already top-tier gear, constantly improving quality, durability, and exceptional design. The much-lauded Arc'teryx LEAF Alpha line now includes yet another innovation: The Alpha LT.

The Arc'teryx LEAF Alpha Jacket LT GEN 2 is a meticulously constructed jacket with a tricot backer that means business while staying as light as possible so if it needs to be packed away, it takes up very little space and won't weigh you down. Windproof and a great choice for inclement conditions, the shell is made from the next generation Gore-Tex L&F 3-layer 30D nylon plain weave fabric, created and rated as a military-grade fabric based on TGF material. Breathable and moisture-wicking, keeping you dry no matter the weather to help regulate your body's temperature the Arc'teryx LEAF Alpha Jacket LT GEN 2 is the perfect jacket for any adventure.

This extremely rugged jacket was specifically tested and designed to accommodate harnesses and rigging equipment, standing up to the unique rigors and stresses such equipment can transfer to a shell. For a full range of motion, articulation in shoulders and elbows allows unrestricted action with the ability to layer underneath, and matte #5 Vision center zipper with back flap is watertight and easy to operate during frigid conditions with or without gloves. Additional quick ventilation can be found using pit zippers that are also water-tight, and the StormHood™ blocks drafts protect the neck and are made to fit over helmets. Two chest pockets on the Arc'teryx LEAF Alpha Jacket LT GEN 2 are also designed to work with load carriage equipment and have media ports to allow for internal routing of communications cables with internal chest pocket featuring HemLock™ removable foam inserts to keep the jacket hem in place and avoid riding up under a harness and hip belt.

Exacting details in every single aspect, highest respect to the needs of customers and conscientious additions that ensure their gear always out-performs are just some of the fantastic reasons why Tactical Distributors is proud to partner with and offer Arc'teryx gear. When only the best will do, Tactical will have your back.

Great selection from the Leaf
Great selection from the Leaf program from Arc'teryx. I wish I had found the LT gen 2 years ago. Good fit, like that the draw cords have have padding on the side.
I know I will be coming back to Tactical Dist from the future.

More like Sigma LT
Damn good and worth every penny for me. As someone between an L and XL this military sized L is perfect. It is slightly more rugged than a Beta LT and has the cut and foam inserts for mobility. It's exactly what I was looking for in terms of a shell for riding the motorcycle, snowboarding and general rain use for the outdoors, active and passive.
