Discover the many ways to protect your investment

The terms “vehicle service contract,” “warranty,” and “protection plan” are sometimes incorrectly used interchangeably in the industry, which can create some confusion around what each one means. Limited warranties and service contracts are different, and it’s important to understand the differences when shopping for the right plan.

Limited Warranty

A limited warranty is included in a new vehicle purchase and covers warrantable repairs for a specified time or mileage^{†(3)}. However, if the vehicle is sold, they are fully transferable to subsequent purchasers. Limited warranties cannot be cancelled.

Vehicle Service Contract (Protection Plan)

A vehicle service contract covers failure of specific parts. It can be added at the time of vehicle purchase at an additional cost, or any time up to 8 years or 120,000 miles^{†(3)}. It also may be transferred if the vehicle is sold, or you may cancel it at any time.

GAP Coverage

GAP Coverage^{†(5)} can provide added financial protection if your vehicle is declared a total loss. In that event, GAP can help by waiving some or all of the difference between the amount you owe on your vehicle finance agreement and the amount your insurance pays, including your deductible.

Pre-Paid Maintenance

With Pre-Paid Maintenance^{†(6)}, you are covered for scheduled oil and filter changes and tire rotations during the coverage period. You also get the added benefit of Chevrolet Certified Service technicians who know your vehicle best.

If you hit a covered road hazard, the Tire and Wheel Protection Plan^{†(7)} provides coverage for the repair or replacement of damaged tires or wheels with no deductible.
