More About RigPro

Have you ever seen the display worthy wiring on a high-end custom boat? The kind that's neat, tight, has perfect right angles, and everything is labeled... just makes you wanna grab a beer, sit with a boating buddy, and admire it.

You know New Wire for the trailblaze we've made in the marine switch panel industry for over a decade, and now it's time to know New Wire for new innovations, dedicated to the heart of your boat: the battery distribution system.

Our series launch features the X1, housing 1 battery switch. But the rollout of RigPro has just begun...

From a single-engine simple system to trips with automatic charging and a heads-up battery management display, RigPro is all about making your life easier.

Forget those ugly finishing washers and parts just dangling by wires; these babies share the same mounting system.

And the best part? The RigPro line isn't just expandable – it's like a customizable buffet... A toolbox BBQ where everyone's invited. With RigPro, you'll have rigging that even a super duper ABYC black belt master electrician would be jealous of.
