

Classes

Playing, exploring, and creating together.

NCRC's emergent curriculum is developed by exploring what is relevant, interesting and personally meaningful to the children - whether it is the study of mushrooms, birds, the post office, or the Arctic Tundra. Teachers use the children's interests as a starting point, weaving in the skills the child needs, creating an educational space of remarkable teachers who are creative, intentional and dedicated.

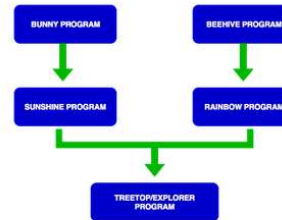

Class Descriptions

NCRC offers six classes for children based on chronological and developmental ages. These age-based groupings allow teachers to tailor the curriculum to the children's developmental needs and interests.

- > Bunny Program (2 1/2-year-olds)
- > Beehive Program (3-year-olds)
- > Sunshine Program (3 1/2-year-olds)
- > Rainbow Program (4-year-olds)
- > Explorer/Treetop Program (4 1/2 - 5-year-olds)

Typical Class Progression

Depending on their individual development and needs, children may take an alternate path that is determined in consultation with teachers, the Child Development Team, and parents
