Product description

Size: 7 mL

Innovative in their formulation, Mission Gold are the first watercolors ever manufactured that are free of silicone dioxide. This thickening agent inhibits transparency as it encapsulates pigments and creates a granular effect on paper. Mission Gold Watercolors are free of this agent, naturally viscous and unsurpassed for their clarity and luminosity. Created from only the finest pigments available, these colors are matured in traditional Korean pots until they achieve maximum brilliance. The result is pure, intense color that is lightfast with minimal color shift. The absence of a thickening agent also means that the concentrated colors disperse beautifully, even on a dry palette and paints left to dry for months are easily lifted. When mixed with a little Titanium White, Mission Gold can replace gouache making it ideal for design work. Set of twenty-four (24) colors including:W501 Chinese White, W521 Lemon Yellow, W523 Permanent Yellow Deep, W518 Yellow Orange, W151 Permanent Red, W512 Permanent Rose, W513 Rose Madder, W551 Opera, W553 Permanent Violet, W541 Cerulean Blue, W542 Cobalt Blue No.1, W543 Peacock Blue, W545 Ultramarine Deep, W546 Indigo, W536 Viridian, W535 Hookers Green, W534 Sap Green, W561 Yellow Ochre No.1 Transparent, W569 Raw Sienna, W564 Burnt Sienna, W570 Burnt Umber, W565 Red Brown, W566 Vandyke Brown, W502 Ivory Black.

- 4 votes: Question: How many of these colors are pure pigments? Thank you Answer: For the Mission Gold Water Color Set, 24 Colors: Chinese White - PW6 ... see more
- 2 votes: Question: Where are these made? Answer: Per the description in a Dick Blick catalogue, the paints come from pigments aged in Korean pots. I'm guessing Korea.
- 2 votes: Question: 7 ml is about 1/4 ounce. Why are the Winsor Newton tubes states to be 0.17ml which is approximately 1/166 ounce or 1/41 of the 7 ml tube? Answer: We're sure that was just a typo in response to the April 1 inquiry on the size of the tubes. The Mission Gold are 7 ml, and the Winsor & Newton come in three sizes - 5 ml, 14 ml, and 37 ml.

I've tried a lot of different watercolor brands but this one is incredible. The colors are beautiful and vibrant and I just love the opera pink that comes in this set. I watched some reviews on YouTube and I decided to get these and I'm so happy that I did. Love them 😊

This is a lovely set of watercolors, but when I was making a color reference card, I discovered that the tube labelled "Indigo" is actually just "Ivory Black."

I really love these paints. There is so much hype over other brands that these babies seem to get overlooked and it's sad because they are really great vibrant paints. If you are looking for professional grade paints and don't want to have to empty your bank account to do so, get these. The paint moves well and rewet beautifully, I would buy these again for sure.

I bought this as a starter set for a watercolor class I'm taking. My teacher commented that these are great colors. They contain all the colors for a split primary palette plus a bunch more. I'm very happy, this set was way more on other sites.

I have been working with these paint for a good 3 months now and I can honestly say these are the best watercolour paints I have used so far, I will be buying again, they're really easy to activate once dried in pans and the colours when dry on paper have little shifting from when they're wet and the pigments are so rich and vibrant

★★★★★ Beautiful pigments

Reviewed in the United States on August 8, 2017

This is the most pigmented set of tube paint I've ever used and I didn't try all the colors out but wow, the ones I do have swatched are amazing. Just the tiniest dot from the tip of the tube mixed with water gives you a fairly opaque color. Mix with more water if you want a transparent effect. A little of this will go a very long way. I got this when it was on sale, definitely a good buy! I'll keep and eye out for more by this brand in the future but I think this set is enough to keep me.

I got the 24 piece but if I could do it again I think I'd stretch for the bigger set + palette since it was only about $20 more ★★★★★ Artist quality paint, at a great price.

Reviewed in the United States on February 24, 2017

If your looking for a new watercolor to try, these are worth your time. I paint on a daily basis being a illustrator, and these have overtime become my new paints/palette.

I bought these paint a while ago simply because I am always exploring for new watercolor paint. and these did not disappoint!

I have a variety of artist paint tubes, Graham, Winsor Newton, Sennelier, Daniel Smith, schmincke, Holbein. Mission Gold are up their in my book in terms of artist quality. While I understand that many watercolorist can be skeptic of new brands, I want to remind that all paints start some where, and you should not just instantly dismiss these just because their still new in the market, give them a genuine chance.

They have intense saturation, and all of the colors blend seamlessly well when it comes to mixing. They bleed wonderfully when working Wet into Wet technique. which is important for flow and creating gradients in watercolor.

I love these paints. They are very rich and have loads of pigment. A tiny bit goes a long way. They all seem to glaze nicely. Lifting seems to be a bit hit or miss and most of them stain to some degree. I love them.

★★★★★ Absolutely worth every penny

Reviewed in the United States on March 20, 2019

My fiancée bought this as a Valentine's Day gift (which I picked out). For professionals: I highly recommend. These re-wet beautifully and are quite lightfast. Glazing and layering is an absolute dream with these. The selection of colors works perfectly for my needs as I do a lot of portraits, but does carry some beautiful earth tones, my favorite being the red brown. If you have money or the opportunity, please do yourself a favor and add these to your collection.

For students: I cannot stress how much you will see your technique improve upon upgrading to professional paints, which is exactly what happened for me in buying these. With pro tube paints, you will need to understand pigments and light fastness, as well as transparency. These are a great starting point, and quite frankly the only set I will need for a long time to come. I do use other brands as well, but I always come back to my Mission Golds.

For reference, it is now late March and I have used this product daily since February. I didn't want review until thoroughly familiar with the product.

Love these, they're amazing, use only a small amount but get a good coverage. Only complain was that 2 of the tubes were stiff when I got them, and now they are really difficult to open and there's some wastage when I do finally manage to get them open!

These are some of the most vibrant paints I own. I recently swatched out these along with my other sets, and was surprised to note they were much more vibrant than Schmincke and M. Graham. If you like intense colour that behaves consistently, these are a good option.
