

News First Person Guest Interviews Podcast About

Staff

About the Autism News NetWORK

The Autism News NetWORK (ANN) is a media corporation under the direction of McLeod Frampton Gwynette, Jr., MD at the Medical University of South Carolina. The corporation serves as a social skills and vocational training opportunity for adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) through the production of video content, podcasts, broadcast and internet radio, newsletters and live events aimed at a mass audience. All Autism News NetWORK material is written, produced, and directed by adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder. The program is designed to provide adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder an opportunity to learn these skills and empower them to work in a meaningful career. The Autism News NetWORK will potentially employ large numbers of adults with ASD who will help operate the program day to day.

The Autism News NetWORK is a novel program and fills a major gap in adult social skills and vocational services in the field of Autism. While there are some websites generating media about Autism, the Autism News NetWORK exists for the benefit of its participants with Autism Spectrum Disorder, while generating a unique, first-hand viewpoint of living with Autism.

One unique characteristic of the Autism News NetWORK is the provision of therapeutic support by clinicians for adults with Autism in the work environment. This support is integral to the success of Autism News NetWORK participants.

About the Autism News NetWORK

The Autism News NetWORK (ANN) is a media corporation under the direction of McLeod Frampton Gwynette, Jr., MD at the Medical University of South Carolina. The corporation serves as a social skills and vocational training opportunity for adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) through the production of video content, podcasts, broadcast and internet radio, newsletters and live events aimed at a mass audience. All Autism News Network material is written, produced, and directed by adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder. The program is designed to provide adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder an opportunity to learn these skills and empower them to work in a meaningful career. The Autism News Network will potentially employ large numbers of adults with ASD who will help operate the program day to day.

The Autism News Network is a novel program and fills a major gap in adult social skills and vocational services in the field of Autism. While there are some websites generating media about Autism, the Autism News Network exists for the benefit of its participants with Autism Spectrum Disorder, while generating a unique, first-hand viewpoint of living with Autism.

One unique characteristic of the Autism News Network is the provision of therapeutic support by clinicians for adults with Autism in the work environment. This support is integral to the success of Autism News Network participants.

Get the latest ANN content in your inbox!

We will not sell or share your data and will only send you ANN content & announcements.

The Latest From ANN

Episode 20:
Ainsley's
routines, work, and dreams

May 29th, 2020

Episode 19:
Catching Up
With Joshua Miller

May 23rd, 2020

Dr. Gwynette Appearing on Yes You CAN Talk Radio Show

May 22nd, 2020

Episode 18: Dr.
Daniel Moreno
De Luca

May 16th, 2020

© Copyright 2020 | The Autism News Network | All Rights Reserved

The Autism News NetWORK is housed at the Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston, South Carolina

