One of the biggest challenges I've faced as being a new studio owner is finding the time for my personal practice. One of my goals for 2020 is to be better with time management. The busier I've become with work, the less free time I have. As an instructor I know first hand the importance of self practice but planning time for myself is constant work in progress...ALL good things to come!!! So excited for ALL things happening in 2020 @housepilatesstudio !!!
