

Join Our Community as a Freelancer

The team is always looking for skilled individuals to come take a role in the company, whether it be part time work as a freelancer, or a full time position as part of the core team.

Codex on AltHash creates an incentivized- ecosystem of coders and developers working on different blockchains, software, and products. The team is primarily focused on building utility with the 'CDEX' token through the implementation of smart contracts into highly- useful applications, bots, and other programmable machines.

Codex encourages healthy, transparent coding and development, which are praised characteristics in the world of software development. By maintaining a level of professionalism, based on the idea of transparency and healthy coding, Codex is able to create a highly- appealing freelance ecosystem.
