Trust – Sale of Ecommerce Business

Jane Moritz built up an ecommerce business, well-known in its target market, with years of grit and creativity. Selling the business was a major life event for Jane.

Jane was motivated to sell her business as an avenue for further growth. She sought a buyer who offered complementary expertise, especially in digital marketing, and who would continue to partner with her after the sale.

Jane needed a lawyer she could trust for the sale. Jane engaged grIP team member Jed Weiner as M&A counsel. Jane found Jed was accessible and responsive. Most important to her, she felt Jed was a dedicated and focused advocate for her interests.

Jane appreciated that Jed invested the time to understand her business and her personal goals. It was also important that he understood the financial complexities of the business.
