- The squatting machine is equipped with a solid stainless steel base for strength and durability. The steel foot plate makes the user completely stable to support heavy weight and high pressure. It's also easy to store, making it the best home fitness squat machine.
- If you're looking for a space saving machine, it's also easy to use, without the hassle of weight-bearing, but will strengthen your quadriceps, gluteus maximus and core, which is exactly what you need. The benefit of this machine is to improve the muscle mass of the whole lower body without the need for shelves and barbells, or the bulky leg stretcher.
- Double cushioned for intense training. The end of the calf pad is padded with thick padding, which is comfortable behind the knee. The thickened ankle roller holds the leg position during the descent movement. Padded ankle roller has 6 horizontal adjustment positions
- Unlike other machines, the squat machine helps create an isolated environment where you can work out the big muscles in the front of your thighs without oversteering your knees. Leg squat equipment is very effective, you don't have to use heavy equipment any more!
- The size is 78x52x77cm, the maximum weight load is 100kg, for personal sports
