About Jessica Dennehy

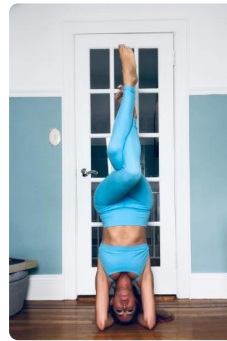

Wall Street regulator turned entrepreneur, I left the investment world after almost a decade to build a brand of luxury barbershops, which have scaled over the past eight years, even expanding overseas. I learned that to be successful, you must be ready to Pivot and tweak things along the way. Now, I'm helping other entrepreneurs do the same – reinvent themselves, transform their ideas into successful companies and scale their businesses.

With my Pivot + Slay techniques, you can rebrand yourself into the self-employed bada\$\$ you've always dreamed of becoming.

I've worked with CEOs, art galleries & even political candidates to create customized business structures and strategies for success. I kick-started my own company eight years ago when I was 9 months pregnant and light on funds. Since then, my companies have withstood the test of time.

With my help, so can yours.
