Our Buckingham Road branded products are designed for use in the RV manufacturing process. Their high quality designs enable ease of installation and reliability.

Protecta branded products are designed for safety and component preservation in mind. Built to allow the consumer hassle-free maintenance in their daily RV use.

“Our products are the result of years of experience and insight into our customers needs.”

- John Curran, Founder

- RDI is a multi-line distributor specializing in wire, electrical, plumbing, and building products used in the manufacture of recreational vehicles of all makes and factory built structures.
- RDI is the new leader in industry technology which allows our OEM customers to be more efficient and accurate, and assures our ability to deliver what our customers need “on time, every time.”
- We are a team of experienced product specialists capable of delivering not only what our customers need today, but by creating and developing what they will need in the future.
