By optimizing power flow through your home's wiring, STOPWATT helps you reduce power consumption at the meter. You can't make the meter turn backward, but you can slow it down to a crawl with our help!

In fact, with a heavy-duty load, STOPWATT can reduce your energy consumption by 60% to 90% immediately. Read that again – you can reduce your power consumption by up to 90% just by installing a single device. It doesn't get much easier than that.

How does STOPWATT save you so much? It's right there in the name. Our device stops voltage bleed, unbalanced current, and surges that not only waste power but can damage delicate devices and appliances in your home.

STOPWATT is an inline device that routes all your home's power through it. As it does so, it takes that unoptimized, chaotic flow and applies structure, while capturing power that would bleed off and be lost. By optimizing power flow through your home's wiring, STOPWATT helps you reduce power consumption at the meter. You can't make the meter turn backward, but you can slow it down to a crawl with our help!
